Snooker 3,5,C

For the 4 legged part of this team. As you enter the ring for snooker remind your 2 legged partner that your plan has red, color, red, color, red, color. Should your partner cue you at the wrong time and you drop a red bar, you need to find another red. Each red is only used once. If you happen to drop a color you will get a zero and proceed to the next obstacle in your sequence. This has completed the opening, follow 2 thru 7 to complete the closing. When you finish the closing or happen to hear THANK YOU, take your handler directly to the finish jump.

Today #2, is bi-directional in the closing. The start line is not bi-directional. There are 2 combos on the course, in the opening just get all parts done, any direction or flow is okay.

Dogs enter at #6 or the horn.

Snooker 1,2

Snooker is a game with 2 parts, an opening and a closing. In the opening you must successfully complete a red jump, then go to a numbered obstacle, complete the obstacle successfully or not, go to a different red jump, after successfully completing the red, go to another numbered obstacle, successful or not go to a third different red, after successful completion of the third red, complete a numbered obstacle. This has completed the opening, the finish jump is now live. To complete the closing follow numbers 2-7 and go to the finish jump. If at any point you hear a whistle, horn, or Thank You go directly to the finish jump. No red jump may be repeated, numbered obstacles can be repeated in the opening. In the closing, # 2 is bi-directional. The start line is NOT bi-directional. There is a combo on the course in the opening just get all parts done, any direction or flow.
